Soaring Away from Hunger

With a whopping 2,392 cans, WRA constructed a hot air balloon to represent the 2017 Canstruction transportation theme. In a world where many people are constantly on the move, WRA aimed to design a concept that would bring people "back down to earth."

According to the Maryland Food Bank, 1 in 9 Marylanders is food insecure. With that staggering statistic in mind, the WRA team utilized a color scheme that would allow us to supply an assortment of food to help fill the stomachs of those living with the daily struggle of going hungry. We aimed to select a variety of foods that would create a well-balanced and nutritious meal, which included mixed vegetables, tuna fish, and pumpkin for the upcoming fall season.

Upon the design and construction of our hot air balloon, WRA hopes that you can imagine soaring away from hunger, envision the impact the donated food will have on the local community, and remember that we rise by lifting others.
